

5 great new designs of used containerhomes!

Yes, that is correct: not converted containers but converted container homes.

As you may know, the 1000 student homes of the Keetwonen project are for sale (www.keetwonenforsale.com) and we received quite some questions on possible alternative uses.

With shipping container conversions, the sky is the limit. Quick, low cost, high quality and very sturdy. When buying used container home projects at a fraction of the original price, it all becomes even much better. You save more than 60% of the original construction cost, while the returns (rental income or daily hotel room prices) are high as ever! Where do you find a better Return On Investment than in this case?

Below a picture of the original in the current project and five easy redesigns. This shows how quick you can turn these used container homes in spacious apartments or cool hotel rooms in no time.

The original:

The original 40 ft container home (2,4 x 12 mtr) from the existing Keetwonen project

5 easy conversion concepts:

Redesign #1:

1 bedroom apartment of 58 sqm. Made of 2 originals.
Very spacious, lots of day light. A large balcony would be great addition.

Redesign #2:

2 bedroom apartment of 58 sqm. Made of 2 originals.
One master bedroom and other bedroom. Living with open kitchen plan.

Redesign #3:

2 hotel rooms of 24 sqm. Made of 2 originals.
a corridor is created to access the rooms from inside. A nice size hotel room that could also be used as a mini apartment when adding a pantry.

Redesign #4:

2 motel rooms of 28 sqm. Made of 2 originals.
No corridor but private access from outside or a from a walkway for the upper floors A nice size motel room that could also be used as a mini apartment when adding a pantry.

Redesign #5:

2 mini motel rooms of 13 sqm. Made of 1 original.
Private access from outside. Ideal for small student hostels or for backpackers.
Bathroom is shared between 2 rooms. Also ideal for temporary work accommodation.

Is it difficult or very costly to do these conversions?

No: all designs are made with the idea to do this quickly and at low cost.
